

Daniela Flis

 danflis@gmail.com

Professional Profile

Psychiatrist, graduated from the National University of Buenos Aires (UBA), with a specialization in Psychiatry certified by the Ministry of Health and Social Action of Argentina. Psychoanalyst with extensive training in Freudian and Lacanian clinical practice, guided by the ethics of the unconscious and deeply rooted in the works of Freud and Lacan.

Academic and Professional Experience

- Adjunct Professor (by competitive examination) at the University of Buenos Aires, Faculty of Psychology, in the departments of French School of Psychoanalysis and Cure Management.
- Postgraduate Professor at the University of El Salvador, teaching on Lacan's work.
- Former member (honorary position) of the Ethics Committee at the Foundation for Aid to Immunocompromised Patients.
- Former Coordinator of Reflection Groups for Older Adults, using therapeutic tools to collaboratively reflect on family conflicts, loneliness, coping with the passage of time, illness, and grief.
- Coordinator of study groups on the works of Freud and Lacan.
- Supervisor of clinical cases for colleagues.
- Active participant in clinical and teaching spaces, as well as conferences and congresses on psychiatry and psychoanalysis.

Languages

Spanish, French, English, Romanian